

A Parent's Guide to Pupil Premium Funding

What is the Pupil Premium?

The Pupil Premium was introduced in 2011. It is additional funding the Government provides to schools for each student identified to be in need of financial assistance to support their education. The school will work with Parents and Guardians to identify the needs of the child. Ultimately, it is the school's responsibility to decide how the Pupil Premium should be spent.

Why has the Government provided Pupil Premium funding?

The aim of the Pupil Premium is to reduce the barriers to learning entitled families may face, to help schools provide children with the extra support and opportunities that will help them to achieve an enriching and successful education.

Is my child entitled to the Service Premium funding?

Your child will be entitled to the Service Premium funding if you are a parent currently serving in the armed services and supporting your family, a child with a parent who has died whilst serving in the armed services and those who have a parent who has left the armed services since April 2011. Unlike the Pupil Premium, this funding is not solely for raising attainment but for providing additional (mainly pastoral) support. To be eligible, the parent must be supporting their family, so where they are separated or divorced a student will not be eligible.
